Dear NEIHA Members

On behalf of Karmashree Hiteswar Saikia College fraternity, I take the proud privilege to invite you to the 40th Annual Conference of North East India History Association to be held in our college on 24th, 25th, and 26th October, 2019. The members' camp will be opened in the afternoon of 23rd October, 2019 and will be closed on 27th, October, 2019 morning.

Assam:

Assam is one of the North-eastern states of India. It is located to the south of the eastern Himalayas along the Brahmaputra and Barak river valleys. Nestled in the lush green bio-diverse environment, Assam is surrounded by Bhutan and Arunachal Pradesh to the North; Nagaland and Manipur to the east; Meghalaya, Tripura, Mizoram and Bangladesh to the south; and West Bengal to the west. In fact, Assam is the Gateway to the other parts of North East India. It has a geographical area of 78,438 square kilometres with a total population of 31,205,576 (as per 2011 census). Assam is known to the world for its wildlife, archaeological sites, tea plantation, crude oil, and natural silk. And very especially Assam takes pride in its one-horned rhinoceros. Assam is also a land of rich ethnic and cultural diversity. There has been a confluence of people of the Indo-Aryan, Austro-Asiatic and Tibeto-Burman origin in the state and this has designed the present tapestry of culture and tradition of Assamese society. Also, the state of Assam has a rich ancient socio-cultural history, which can be traced way back in the Vedic and Tantric literature, Assamese folklore and Buddhist literature. Guwahati is the largest city in Assam and Northeast India. Dispur, the state capital of Assam, is situated in Guwahati city. Guwahati, which is on the banks of the river Brahmaputra, is a place surrounded by green hills and hillocks. It is known for historical holy sites like Kamakhya Temple on the Nilachal hill-top, Navagraha Temple, an ancient astronomical and astrological centre with planetary shrines on Chitrachal hill and Umananda Temple of Lord Shiva on Peacock Island in the Brahmaputra river and so on and so forth.

Karmashree Hiteswar Saikia College:

Karmashree Hiteswar Saikia College is a fast-growing co-educational institution located in the south-eastern part of the city of Guwahati near Six Mile on the Panjabari Road, Guwahati, Assam. It is only 3.1 km away from Assam's capital Dispur. Established in the year 1988, the college shifted to its present permanent location under the active patronage of Late Hiteswar Saikia, the then Chief Minister of Assam in whose fond memory the college was aptly renamed by the public in 2004. The college today is an active hub of education for both Arts and Commerce streams as well as professional course with modern infrastructural facilities amidst a quiet and serene atmosphere conducive to educational pursuits

Climate of Guwahati:

Guwahati's climate is subtropical. The latter part of October will be temperate with an average temperature of about 28^o-30^o Celsius during day time and about 20^o-22^o Celsius during night with the advent of winter.

Travelling to Karmashree Hiteswar Saikia College:

Guwahati is connected to the rest of India and world by a network of roads, railways and air. Road communication to Karmashree Hiteswar Saikia college is very convenient. It is just 34.8 km from LGB International Airport and 9.1km from Guwahati Railway Station. Also, the college is just 11.6 km away from Rupnath Brahma Inter State Bus Terminal, Betkuchi, Guwahati. Tourist taxis and city buses to the college are available from these stations.
